

Javen Ackerman Creative Services

Writing &
Web Design

Sales Letter: Stenzinger Consulting

Dear Childcare Professional:

In the state of Minnesota, four times more children are expelled from pre-K classes than from any other age group. Their removal from your classroom is expensive, costing you time and money, and the toll it takes on the child expelled is even higher. But there is good news for care providers, for parents, and especially for children...

By calling Stenzinger Consulting, you can provide your staff with the skills and knowledge needed to better understand and deal with a child's challenging behavior. This has been shown to significantly decrease the likelihood of expulsions, as well as to increase the chances of the early detection of mental health issues that may be driving the problem behavior.

You'll benefit from training and workshops based on the research from Neurons to Neighborhoods and Zero to Three's DC:03R. You'll also have access to strategies and techniques based on the research of the National Association for the Education of Young Children, Positive Discipline, and the work of Rudolf Dreikurs.

These custom-designed programs cover such topics as Making Friends, Communication and Learning, Self-Regulation, as well as mental health disorders like Anxiety, Depression, and Fetal Alcohol Syndrome. We work together to determine your areas of need, and then you and your staff will gain the tools to address those needs.

If your staff is unprepared and doesn't have access to necessary resources to deal with challenging behavior, all you stand to lose is another child from your classroom. But the stakes are much higher for the child lost.

Contact me today for a free evaluation of your needs and to discuss how we might work together to tailor a program that will meet your needs.

Sincerely,

Kate Stenzinger
Stenzinger Consulting